ABOUT HUGH WARWICK

Hugh is an ecologist and writer with a particular fondness for hedgehogs. The first of his three books (so far!) about hedgehogs was, A Prickly Affair, and this remains unique for having accolades from both Jeanette Winterson and Ann Widdecombe on the cover.

Hugh's second hedgehog book was called Hedgehog, and published in April 2014 by Reaktion Books. It is a monograph on the iconography of the hedgehog - niche, yes, but also full of fun and beautiful illustrations.

Most recently, September 2020, The Hedgehog Book - published by Graffeg. This looks at the hedgehog from both the scientific and the less scientific points of view - illustrated with oodles of gorgeous photographs.

In addition to writing, Hugh does a lot of public speaking (from primary schools to postgraduate research groups via the WI and Wildlife Trusts). He also runs day-long courses on hedgehog conservation and lectures in creative writing.

Hugh is spokesperson for the British Hedgehog Preservation Society.

Admission to Hugh's talk costs £4.00 (under 18s £1.00) - payable on the door (proceeds to Wild About Warnham). Refreshments will be available.
